WATERBURY

Meeting Monday Afternoon to Perfect Red Cross Organization.

Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the opera house, Harry S. Howard, secretary of the Vermont State Red Cross chapter, will address the people on the perfecting of such an organization in town. Through the Village Improvement society, Mrs. Nelson Vassar has been in Burlington taking the training in the Red Cross work and is now fitted to instruct in that line. It is hoped that adjacent towns will join, so that we may have one of the largest branches in Red Cross work. The work will be so apportioned that the adjacent towns will receive full credit for all contributions. Many of the young men are going from this section, and the ladies do not want to be lacking in the preparedness campaign. Notice that the meeting is in the opera house, instead of village hall, as at first planned.

Doctors Fear Recurrence of Infantile Paralysis.

In the June Woman's Home Companion Dr. Roger H. Dennett says: "Now that hot weather is approaching, many parents are dreading a repetition of the suspense through which they passed last summer, when, panic-stricken, they took their children from place to place, fearful of an enemy that had such mysterious ways of getting into their midst and of baffling the wise men in their counsels."

"One of the reasons that the disease is so dreaded, both by the layman and by the physician, is that the paralysis may affect any or almost all of the groups of muscles in the body—one arm or two, one leg or both, the whole of an extremity or only part of it, the muscles of the face or even of the eye, the neck, back or abdominal muscles, or, as happened in the fatal cases last summer, the muscles of the chest with which we breathe, and the muscles of the throat with which we swallow."

THOSE SAWMILL UNITS.

Prominent Men Delegated to Task of Selecting Force of 360 Men.

As there is much inquiry for information about the nature of the expedition of the ten portable sawmill units that New England is preparing to send to Old England, the following brief statement is given out.

Through the auspices of the Massachusetts committee of public safety (J. J. Storrow, chairman), the following executive committee has been organized: Chairman, W. R. Brown, president of N. H. Timberland Owners' association, Berlin, N. H.; vice-chairman, James J. Phelan, Massachusetts committee on public safety, Boston, Mass.; treasurer, H. G. Philbrook, care of Stone-Webster, 147 Milk street, Boston, Mass.; secretary, F. W. Kane, Massachusetts state forester, State House, Boston, Mass.; H. W. Blanchard, care of H. W. Blanchard and Lumber Co., Boston, Mass.; Philip T. Dodge, president International Paper Co., 30 Broad street, New York.

The headquarters are at the State House, Boston. A pamphlet is being prepared which will give detailed information. All mail matter should be addressed directly to the committee, which will be placed in the hands of the proper person in charge.

The following named men have been delegated by the executive committee to take immediate charge of assembling equipment and selecting a force of 360 men:

Millmen and Outfit—H. B. Stebbins. Woodsmen and Outfit—Martin A. Brown.

Horses and Equipment—H. G. Philbrook. Portable Mill and Equipment—Samuel H. Boardman.

Logging, Camp Equipment, Wagons and Chains—Forest H. Colby. Shipping and Transportation—J. H. Hustis.

The above named agents of the executive committee will make their headquarters at the office of the state forester, room 408 State House, Boston. The office hours will be from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.; Saturday, from 9 a. m. to 12. Telephone, Haymarket 4600, state forester's department.

F. W. Kane, Secretary. May 18, 1917.

S. R. Fairchild of St. Johnsbury was among the business visitors in the city yesterday.

B. F. Hite of Salt Lake City, Utah, is passing a few days in the city as the guest of Fred N. Bratley of Merchant street.

Frank L. Small of Eastern avenue returned this morning from Boston, where he has been making a business visit of a few days.

Miss Alice Rockwood of Berlin, N. H., arrived in the city yesterday to spend a few days as a guest of friends on North Main street.

Ex-Congressman Frank Plumley returned to his home in Northfield this morning, after speaking at East Barre last evening.

Wilfred Lamorey of Springfield arrived in the city yesterday to spend a few days as the guest of his brother, A. A. Lamorey of Carrier street.

Erna J. Hardy of Williamsville returned to his home last evening after a business trip of a few days in Barre, Graniteville and Montpelier.

Sergt. Roscoe Melver, who is attached to the Headquarters company at Fort Ethan Allen, arrived in the city last evening to spend a short leave of absence at his home in Graniteville.

Perry Oliver, who has been visiting at his home here for a few days, returned last night to Claremont, N. H., and will leave within a few days for Jonlin, Mo., where he is to continue in the employ of the Sullivan Machinery Co.

Tony Corey of Prospect street returned this morning from Caribou, Me., where he has been passing a week with his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ziter, whose recent marriage in Burlington was followed by a visit with relatives here.

A rally and flag raising is to take place at the granite hall on Cobble hill Tuesday night, with two speakers and a band, and an enthusiastic time is expected. Consider this an invitation to attend. A large crowd is hoped for and expected.

Toothsome confections at Laws' candy store include the new "patriotic" fudge at 19 cents the pound, and "sea foam," a sugared delicacy that is bound to tickle the palate, at 33 cents. Saturday specials as well as all of Laws' delicious candies are home made.

All adults who participated in the choruses or as principals in "The Whirling Ring" are invited to join in the rehearsals for "The Girl From Broadway," a musical extravaganza, which is to be presented in the near future for the benefit of the Headquarters company and other Barre members of the militia. The next rehearsal is to be held in the Pavilion theatre Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

At the Specialty Shop is exhibited a stand of American flags unique in design and unusually attractive to the eye of the passerby. The flags were woven in brightly colored silk by a Chinese woman in Hong Kong, who gave them to a brother of Mrs. Ellen Beattie of Prospect street, the brother having been for 18 years a resident of Hong Kong. Across the base of the stand is embroidered the motto, "In God We Trust."

An observant citizen on upper Long street stopped in a local bank while on his way to his office this morning to congratulate a couple of clerks on their gardening enthusiasm. Not content with devoting their daytime hours of leisure to a large potato patch on Long street, the young men have taken to gardening after dark and the last rows of a considerable potato area were planted by lantern light. The lot is leased land and thereon the bank clerks expect to raise enough spuds for their own use, with a few bushels left over for market and seed.

Beginning to-morrow in St. Monica's church Rev. Fathers O'Brien and James P. Moore, missionary priests of the diocese of Springfield, Mass., will conduct mission services and a schedule of worship for the ensuing two weeks will be announced. Rev. Fathers O'Brien and Moore were in Barre for a mission in 1916 and their labors at St. Monica's church left a marked impression on the parishioners. The missionaries will preach at both masses and at services to be held daily until the first Sunday in June. Both men are well known exponents of pulpit oratory in the Roman Catholic church and at the mission last year their eloquence stirred Catholics and non-Catholics alike.

Friday evening the senior members of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin enjoyed a pleasant social hour at the convent of the Sacred Heart, Summer street. The entertainment, which took the form of a reception, was a most pleasing affair, and was as follows: Song, "The Star Spangled Banner"; the sodality; vocal solo, "Fleeting Hours," Miss Alice Tynall; piano solo, "Love's Return," Miss Vivian Marriotte; reading, "Sodality Influences," Miss Annie McGue; vocal solo, "I Adore Thee," Miss Louise Cantoni; piano solo, "Alicia" (melody), Miss Marion Carroll; humorous reading, "At the Opera," Miss Loraine Lorange; reading, selected, Miss Eunice McLaughlin. After the singing of the sodality hymn, "Mother Dearest," refreshments were served by the entertainment committee.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Miss Elizabeth Stephens of Maple avenue is passing the week end with friends in St. Albans.

Deputy Sheriff Dennis Donahue arrested a man in Graniteville last night and locked him up at police headquarters for safekeeping. The man will be arraigned on an intoxication charge in city court this afternoon.

At the auction sale on the H. F. Paton property in East Barre yesterday, Frank M. Corey of Montpelier purchased the real estate, the price being $3,000. It was stated that the purchaser bought for an investment. Other property brought good prices. D. A. Perry acted as auctioneer.

Edward Doheny, the young St. Albans private, who is at the Hanover hospital with a fractured skull believed to have been received when a train struck him near the bridge in Bradford Friday morning, is a nephew of Miss Margaret Doheny, a teacher in the Summer street school. The young man was found near the bridge in an unconscious state. He was a member of the Vermont infantry. His father, whose death occurred last winter, was a well known baseball player in a major league. His grandfather, James Doheny, passed away in Northfield a fortnight ago.

MONTPELIER

Burlington High School Defeated Montpelier High, 6 to 3.

Burlington high school's baseball team annexed its second win in two days by defeating Montpelier high school at Inter-city park 6 to 3. Delaney was driven from the mound in the second inning, but Capistrano, who twirled six innings against the seminary Thursday let Montpelier high down with two hits and one run. Sawyer pitched a very creditable game but was given poor support, the Montpelier aggregation making seven errors, several of which were costly.

Sully Sullivan, an employee of Somers & Myr, plumbers, was severely injured yesterday afternoon by falling from the roof of a house at 4 Holmes court owned by Mrs. George M. Smith. Mr. Sullivan was putting tar paint on the roof and slipped, falling about 12 feet. He was rendered unconscious and suffered injuries to his feet and hands. It is feared that bones in one heel were broken, but probably he escaped internal injuries. Mr. Sullivan came to Montpelier from Boston about six weeks ago. The Montpelier high school baseball team left this forenoon for St. Albans, to play the St. Albans high nine this afternoon. Gross will probably pitch, as Sawyer twirled the game against Burlington yesterday afternoon.

Deputy Sheriff Slayton of Barre conducted an auction sale in front of the county courthouse this forenoon, disposing of a horse and Ford automobile for a total of $125, the machine bringing $100. The purchaser was W. E. Bixby of Barre town, who held a mortgage on the property, which was owned by Charles H. Leslie of Barre.

Chief-Master-at-Arms Charles Mitchell, in charge of the local naval recruiting station, left this forenoon for Burlington, where he was joined by Ensign Harris of the Burlington station. They will attend this afternoon the funeral of Donald Wareham Percival, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Percival of Jericho, whose death occurred of pneumonia at the Newport training school the first of the week. The funeral services will be of military nature and Mr. Mitchell will sound taps, using the same bugle that he used when he played taps at the funeral of Admiral George Dewey.

Supreme court, which opened the May term the first day of the month, adjourned late yesterday afternoon, the last case argued being State vs. Albano, Washington county.

Commissioner of Industries R. W. Simmonds and Clerk Miss Laura M. Burbank returned last evening from a trip to Bennington, Brattleboro, Rutland and St. Albans, where hearings were held in regard to compensation for persons injured under the workmen's compensation act.

Uses of Various Fats.

The extension service of the University of Vermont, through its home economics specialists and the committee on food production and conservation of the state public safety committee suggests the following ways of using fats:

Chicken Fat—Chicken fat is a most excellent substitute for butter in cooking. In the proportion of half and half when used with oleomargarine or butter it cannot be distinguished either in flavor or texture in the most delicate cakes or pastry. It may be substituted wholly with unquestionable success. See caution in use of substitute fats for richness.

Beef Fats—Tallow from beef, as a substitute fat, has the disadvantage of being a harder fat than others. To overcome this to some extent, it may be combined with softer fats to make very satisfactory shortening for biscuits, muffins, and cakes which are to be served hot. The correct proportion for combining different fats is one part of the softer fats like lard, pork, bacon or sausage to two of the harder mutton tallow or beef drippings. Beef fat from the brisket yields a softer fat than from other cuts of beef. A small amount of beef drippings may be used with lard for sauteing (in frying pan), but a larger proportion gives bad flavor and a hard, fatty coating.

Mutton Fat—Clarified mutton fat may be used as beef fat. These may be used in cakes in place of butter in such combinations as will mask any unpleasant taste remaining in the fat, as gingerbreads, spice and chocolate cake or cookies.

Bacon, Sausage and Ham Fats—These because of their more persistent flavors test a cook's skill in combining, but are by no means unpleasant in right places. They add a very appetizing flavor to fried potato, mush or other vegetables whose own natural flavors blend well with those of these particular fats. So popular is this use of them that beef and mutton fats are often happily changed to these so-called "savory" fats according to the following recipe:

To one pound of unrendered fat, chopped fine, add one slice onion, about one-half inch thick and two inches in diameter, one teaspoon broken bay leaf and about one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Render in a double boiler and strain.

Bacon cooked with vegetables gives them a pleasant flavor and supplies the fat otherwise added as butter. Some ham fat from a boiled ham should be used together with the liquid to improve split pea soups. All these fats are enjoyed by many in shortening corn meal muffins, corn cake, corn griddle cakes, etc., this again being a natural combination of flavors.

Issued by the University of Vermont, college of agriculture, extension division, Thos. Bradley, director, and distributed in furtherance of the purposes of the cooperative agricultural extension work provided for in the act of congress of May 8, 1914.
